

Express Mail Label No. EV348160092US

Patent
OI7035722001

ABSTRACT

A method and system of handling document operation requests on documents with large collections and constrained memory is disclosed. In some embodiments, when one or more collection elements of a document are required to be in memory for a document operation, each 5 of the one or more required collection elements not already in the memory are loaded into a collection partition in the memory before the document operation is executed.